'I'LL STAY HOME' SAYS POLAR BEAR

He goes back to hibernate (maybe, if polar bears do such things) while the human populace wish they had his coat to keep warm as the temperature hits 5 below and a nine inch blanket of snow covers the city.

Wide Variety In Reports Of Temperature Here

It was c-c-c-cold this morning, and don't let anyone fool you it wasn't.

Lawrence county residents unofficially reported the lowest temperatures of the present season, early today, with thermometers reading anywhere from 24 below zero to one degree above.

Officially, it was 13 below, according to the U. S. Weather Station located at the Pump Station of the New Castle Water company, along the Shenango creek near the Harbor. The temperature at the weather station at 7 a.m. today, read 11 below and when the official reading was made at 9 a.m., the thermometer read 13 below.

Mild Heat Wave Year Ago

Just one year ago, in comparison, the district was enjoying what might be termed a mild heat wave, or at least it was, putting it up against today's official low. The high for one year ago today, according to the official records was 52 degrees above.

With such a wide variety of temperatures recorded in Lawrence county this morning, it might be wise for local residents to check their old thermometers against a new one. Some sort of a unification system should be devised or perhaps a good thermometer placed in the various localities against which residents could check their individual thermometers.

Although some district highways are bare, there is ice in spots, and chains were advised by Alfred A. Martin, county highway superintendent. The roads are all passable and workmen continue to give attention to spots that are dangerous.

Some local residents were either late for work this morning or failed to appear at all. Many family cars left parked on the streets failed to start even after pushing and various other methods employed to get the vehicles going. Sub-zero temperatures were responsible for the cars' failure to respond.

A number of business houses had well painted windows when

McCloy Declares West Germany To Be Protected

Promises All-Out Allied Aid In Unification Plans

By TOM AGOSTON
(I. N. S. Staff Correspondent)

FRANKFURT, Dec. 27.—John J. McCloy, U. S. high commissioner for Germany, promised Germans all-out allied aid in achieving unification of their country and said there will be no "sell-out" of the western Germans.

In a year-end news conference, McCloy emphasized that the western powers desire to end the east-west split peacefully and wish to explore all possible avenues that might lead to solution.

McCloy attempted to set at rest any fears that western Germany would suffer in the allies' efforts to secure peace and said:

"We have proved that we have Germany's interest at heart, so do not believe that the west will sell you out."

McCloy warned the German government and people that "certain quarters"—obviously meaning Soviet Russia—"will continue to make every effort to bring about a decision that would be unfortunate for Germany."

Must Be Explored

The high commissioner spoke of the message from east German Chancellor Otto Grotewohl asking west German unification with the Soviet-controlled east. He said:

"This is a subject whose sincerity and implications must be examined and explored despite the fact I have little doubt that the offer was inspired by the Kremlin."

McCloy said the western powers will put no time limitation on the government of western Germany in framing its reply to the east German proposal.

Not Forcing Decision

"Allied policy," he said, "never contemplated forcing any decision on a take it or leave it basis."

"The western governments have set no time limit for an exchange of views (between the east and west German governments), nor have they specified that these must be concluded before the proposed big four meeting takes place."

McCloy said the extent of U. S. military reinforcements for Germany is bound to be affected by the measure to which Europe brings about its own unity as well as Germany's own decisions concerning her own defense.

Two Children Die In Burning Home

CANASTOTA, N. Y., Dec. 27.—(INS)—Two small children were killed and three other members of their family escaped today when fire swept their home in Canastota.

The dead children were Frank Sorbello, Jr., 12, and his sister, Joanne, 7. They were found huddled together in an upstairs bedroom, victims of suffocation.

Their parents and eight-month-old baby escaped in night clothes in six below zero temperature.

Mrs. Sorbello discovered the fire when she re-entered the kitchen after tending the furnace which became overheated. The flames spread so rapidly the children could not be rescued.

Mrs. Sorbello is in a Canastota hospital suffering from shock, exposure and lacerations. The father and baby were treated for frostbite.

Mother Of General Walker Unable To Go To Funeral

BELTON, Tex., Dec. 27.—(INS)—Mrs. S. S. Walker, 81-year-old mother of the late Lt. Gen. Walton Walker, will be unable to attend her son's funeral at Arlington National Cemetery.

Dr. J. W. Pittman, Mrs. Walker's doctor, has advised her not to travel to Washington, D.C., for the military rites because of advanced age and general frail health.

Gen. Walker, commander of Eighth Army forces in Korea, was killed Saturday in a jeep accident near Seoul. No date has been set for his funeral.

Thirty Persons Flee McKeesport Fire

MCKEESPORT, Pa., Dec. 27.—(INS)—Thirty thinly-clad persons were forced into near-zero weather today by a four alarm fire that virtually destroyed a row of four frame houses in McKeesport.

Four firemen were slightly hurt in fighting the blaze that brought out practically all of McKeesport's fire equipment.

Deputy Fire Chief Alfred Marcen said although cause of the fire had not been definitely determined, it may have been started by a blowtorch used to thaw frozen water pipes.

Judge Eagen's Bid For Supreme Court Seat Is Rejected

HARRISBURG, Dec. 27.—(INS)—The Dauphin county courts today rejected Lackawanna County Judge Michael J. Eagen's bid for a seat on the Pennsylvania Supreme Court.

Judge Robert E. Woodside handed down a decision sustaining the state election bureau's contention that while three vacancies on the appellate court existed at a specified time only one could be filled under existing statutes in balloting last November.

Eagen's counsel, Harrisburg Attorney Earl V. Compton, indicated an appeal will be carried to the high court.

Christmas Seal Receipts Are Now $13,310.04

J. Nelson Runyan, 1950 Seal Sale chairman who today reported to J. O. Houston, president of the Lawrence County Tuberculosis society, stated that, "To date we have received $13,310.04. With your help we will reach our goal. It is always hard to raise money—at the end of the campaign—won't you help?"

Mr. Runyan termed the campaign a "True community project," in praising county residents.

Returns Through Mail

"It should be emphasized that the bulk of Christmas Seal sale receipts represent returns through the mail from individual contributors."

"Preliminary figures show that the total sum indicates widespread response to the 1950 appeal for funds to finance the tuberculosis prevention and control work of our society. This year the

Mobilization To Be Speeded

Report 100,000 Will Be Drafted In March

By DARRELL GARWOOD
(I. N. S. Staff Correspondent)

WASHINGTON, Dec. 27.—The army marked its sharp speedup of mobilization today by preparing an order calling up 100,000 draftees during March.

Defense department spokesmen said they expect that the 100,000-a-month draft rate will be maintained or exceeded thereafter.

The January and February calls, largest yet in the present emergency, are for 80,000 men each.

It was pointed out that President Truman in his recent national emergency proclamation that the U. S. must build a military establishment of 3,500,000 men.

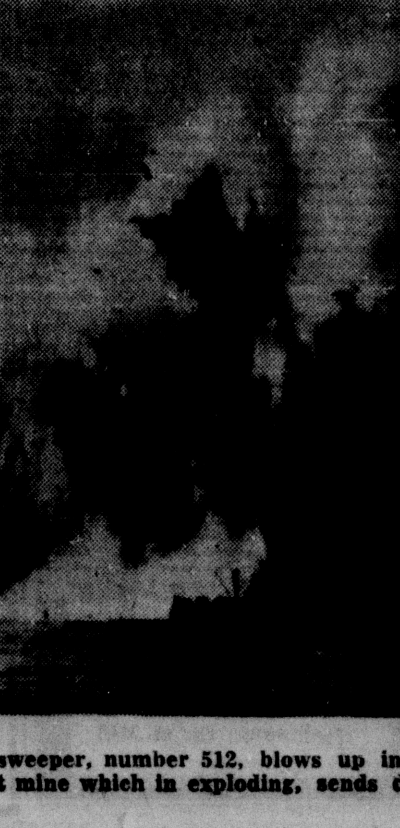

The defense department also is expected to announce shortly its further call-ups of National Guard units.

Army chief of staff Gen. J. Lawton Collins has stated that large number of troops destined for the European defense force will start moving overseas by July 1.

The latest order, expected to be issued later this week, came on the heels of a call up of 7,500 more reserve army captains and lieutenants.

At the same time, the army announced that for the first time it may take officers individually from their units, including National Guard divisions.

Hunt For Arsonist And Would-Be Killer

SACO, Me., Dec. 27.—(INS)—An unidentified arsonist and would-be killer was accused by Saco fire chief Arthur Emmons today of setting fire to the home of a 41-year-old divorcee and then trying to beat to death her two young sons.

Emmons indicated the suspect, who battered the boys with a hammer, was known and would be arrested, but gave no hint of the identity of the person.

The brothers, Philip Boutet, 14, and James, 9, managed to escape from the house and run to the home of a neighbor who summoned help.

The apparently wholesale murder attempt occurred early Sunday but authorities delayed releasing the details, perhaps to aid in trapping the suspect.

Truman Delaying Decision On Size Of New Tax Bite

By WILLIAM THEIS
(I. N. S. Staff Correspondent)

WASHINGTON, Dec. 27.—President Truman is delaying a decision on the size of a new tax bite but is losing no time in military planning for Korea and Europe.

Mr. Truman reviewed the Korean war situation thoroughly at a conference with top defense officials last night and will take up the European joint defense problem early next week in a similar meeting with Gen. Dwight, supreme commander of the European defense force.

Out of the Blair House meeting which brought the president back to Washington one day ahead of schedule there emerged this concrete indication:

There is little likelihood that Mr. Truman will be ready to ask

U.S. Will Send Ambassador To Spain Now

WASHINGTON, Dec. 27.—(INS)—The White House announced today that the United States is resuming full diplomatic relations with Spain and that President Truman will name Stanton Griffis as ambassador to Madrid.

The president will send the nomination of Griffis, former American ambassador to Argentina, to the Senate when the 82nd Congress convenes next week.

The White House explained that the Franco government in Madrid simultaneously will announce its choice of a Spanish ambassador to Washington.

Mr. Truman's decision to send Griffis to Madrid marks the end of the U. S. diplomatic boycott of the Franco government.

The U. S. withdrew its ambassador to Madrid in 1945 and since that time its diplomatic affairs have been conducted by a charge d'affaires.

In 1946, the United Nations adopted a resolution calling for withdrawal from Madrid of all heads of diplomatic missions.

The UN boycott was repealed several months ago and there had been considerable speculation that the U. S. would soon resume full diplomatic relations with the Franco regime.

The week before, sales were up eight percent over 1949. Store executives pointed out that higher prices accounted for most of the increase, with actual unit volume about the same as last year.

Huge Offensive By Red Forces Still Delayed

Comparative Quiet In Sectors Around Seoul Is Reported

By ROBERT SCHAKNE
(I. N. S. War Correspondent)

U. S. EIGHTH ARMY HEADQUARTERS, Korea, Dec. 27.—Front-line units of a 250,000-man United Nations army drove back an attacking Red battalion northeast of Seoul today as U. S. planes smashed unceasingly at deploying enemy forces.

Some American officers cautiously voiced the belief the 500,000 Chinese and North Korean troops on both sides of the 38th Parallel may have been so badly hurt by the giant air assault that their offensive time table was upset.

However, the long-delayed Red push was still expected to erupt at any hour, as Communist patrols stepped up their feeler thrusts all along the Eighth Army's front and jabbed within 27 miles northwest of Seoul.

Lt. Gen. Matthew B. Ridgway, new commander of the expanded Eighth Army, deployed approximately a quarter million troops for the defense of South Korea.

Assumes Command

Ridgway, who arrived in Korea Tuesday, assumed field command of a greatly enlarged force with the incorporation into the Eighth Army of the war-seasoned 105,000-man 10th Corps transferred south from the Hungnam beachhead.

Arrayed to resist the anticipated effort by the Communists to follow up their conquest of North Korea with seizure of the peninsula's southern half were 16 Eighth Army divisions and 10 other units including brigades.

At Ridgway's disposal for the coming decisive struggle were seven American and nine Republic of Korea (ROK) divisions.

These were the U. S. First Marines, the U. S. Army's First Cavalry

Terrified Reds Eager To Quit

Hundred Surrender After Air Attack

(BULLETIN)

U. S. FIFTH AIR FORCE HEADQUARTERS, Korea, Dec. 27.—(INS)—One hundred terrified Communists surrendered today without firing a shot after a furious United Nations air assault on their Korean battlefield positions.

Maj. Gen. Earl E. Partridge, Fifth Air Force commander, reported the incident in his 5 p.m. summary, as airmen of his fighting arm racked up their third successive day of inflicting some 800 casualties on the enemy.

Important Factor

Th three-day toll of 2,400 killed or wounded pointed up the fact that the United Nations air arm has become, at least temporarily, the most important factor in whittling down the vast numerical odds in favor of the Reds.

The summary said the 100 Communists from "at least one point" in the enemy front lines threw away their weapons and waited with their hands raised over U. N. infantry to capture them.

The Air Force was awaiting further details and had not immediately confirmed whether the surrendering soldiers were Chinese or North Korean Communists.

Mustang fighter planes in wave after wave blasted the Red positions in the surrender area and other planes, including F-80 jet Shooting Stars inflicted hundreds of casualties on the entrenched enemy.

Three hundred Communists died in attacks near Gongpuri and 200 near Ummi, both in the vicinity of the 38th parallel. Jets killed 75 near Karori in the eastern mountains, the same general area in which the 100 Reds surrendered.

Eastern Area Of Nation In Grip Of Frigid Wave

(By International News Service)

Cold Canadian air that tumbled temperatures far below zero in some places today covered all sections of the country east of the Rocky mountains except Florida.

Severely cold readings were reported in the upper Mississippi valley. Rochester, Minn., recorded 30 degrees below zero; Madison, Wis., 18 below; St. Paul, Minn., and Mason City, Ia., 22 below zero.

It was eight below in Chicago, minus-nine in Columbus, O., and one below in Cleveland. New York reported 12 above.

Freezing temperatures were reported as far south as central Texas, northern Alabama and Virginia.

Temperatures were seasonable over Florida and the western states.

Palatial Home On Beachfront Burns At Margate City

MARGATE CITY, N. J., Dec. 27.—(INS)—A general alarm fire swept the palatial beachfront home of Carroll Rosenbloom, executive of the Malboro Shirt company, early today, causing damage in excess of $100,000.

The two-story brick and frame home and adjoining smaller bungalow in the rear were totally destroyed before firemen from Margate City and nearby Ventnor and Atlantic City could bring the flames under control.

The fire was discovered at 5:18 a.m., by a passing taxi cab driver who notified police. Firemen in the three communities battled the stubborn fire in 12-degree temperature and a high wind.

Rosenbloom and his wife and three children are spending the winter at Palm Beach and the house was unoccupied at the time of the fire.

Rosenbloom was an end on the University of Pennsylvania football team in 1928 and 1929.

Cause of the fire is under investigation.

Yo ho for the old fashioned winter, yo ho for the cold nippy nights, and another yo ho for the ice and the snow, and fillgrogged frosty pane sights. And who sings yo ho for the winter, who wants a sub zero degree, who wants all the ponds to be frozen and stiff, and the snow two feet deep, well not me. I'll take just a smidgen of winter, and a larger proportion of spring. I like to see buds bursting out of their homes and listen to cardinals sing. I like it when swimming's in order, when baseball or golf you can play, so you take the old fashioned winter. It's 17 above, noon today.

Mail Situation At Post Office Almost Normal

Only a snag in rural mail traffic now confronts the post office. Incoming mail from out-of-town continues to be heavy and delivery to rural areas, especially routes eight and nine, is still slightly behind schedule.

Those persons hired for the holidays and held over Christmas, now include only a few extra mail carriers. The extra help which aided in the delivery of parcel post and sorting mail has been discharged.

Parcel post delivery is now back to normal and the trucks now operating constitute only the regular working force.

This is the first time since Postmaster Hanna took office that the New Castle office has not been caught up with the rush by the day before Christmas.

people of Lawrence county can point with pride to the new isolation home that is being made possible through the purchase of Christmas seals. The society owes a vote of thanks to the residents of the county for this vote of confidence in its year round work.

Many Don't Respond

Mr. Runyan stated that "Many people have not responded to our appeal—approximately 10,000, because of the busy holidays. However, I feel sure that if they are reminded of that they will send in their contribution. Follow up cards are being mailed this week to all those not heard from. If you should receive a card and have sent your contribution in, please disregard the card and accept our sincere thanks for your contribution."

"This seal sale will continue throughout the month of January, and it is my earnest wish that the people of Lawrence county will make it possible for us to reach our 1950 goal, or $18,000, continued Mr. Runyan.

HUGE OIL PRODUCTION

NEW YORK, Dec. 27.—(INS)—The American Petroleum Institute predicted that crude oil production in the United States this year will total 1,973,000,000 barrels. This is 133,000,000 barrels above the 1949 output, but about 47,000,000 barrels below the record high reached in 1948. The institute estimated domestic demand for all types of oil products at 2,356,000,000 barrels last year, an average of 6,455,000 barrels daily. This is 11 percent above 1949, the previous peak year.

The detour signs at that time will be removed and through traffic without restraint will be permitted on the road.

Lakewood, along the East Brook road, which generally reports the coldest weather of the season, lost out today with its mere 14 below zero. Harlansburg residents shivered under an unofficial 24 below, with other districts showing 16 below.

for another tax boost in either his state of the union or budget messages to congress in January.

White House press secretary Joseph Short sat in on the two and one-half hour Blair House conference with Secretary of State Acheson, Defense Secretary Marshall, Treasury Secretary Snyder and Gen. Omar Bradley, chairman of the joint chiefs of staff.

At its conclusion, Short told reporters:

"I doubt very much if there will be a new request for new taxes in January."

Observers pointed out, however, that this does not rule out the possibility that Mr. Truman may at a later date, perhaps in a special message, call for a tax boost which some informants believe may go as high as seven billion dollars.

If this is the figure finally agreed upon, four billions of it probably would be sought through sharply increased individual income taxes and the remainder through hikes in corporation, estate gift and similar taxes.

SLIP OF TONGUE

WASHINGTON, Dec. 27.—(INS)—The White House said today that President Truman will ask Congress for far heavier taxes and a top government official predicted that the request will be made before Jan. 15.

The official added that he was "startled" by last night's statement by Presidential Secretary Joseph Short that there probably would be no request for new taxes in January.

It was explained today that the remark was a "slip of the tongue about timing."

ally and the Army's Second, Third, Seventh, 24th and 25th Infantry Divisions, and the ROK Capitol, First, Third, Fifth, Sixth, Seventh, Eighth, Ninth and 11th Divisions.

Also included

Also included in Ridgeway's alerted command were the U. S. Fifth Regimental combat team and 187th Airborne Regiment as well as the 27th and 29th British Commonwealth Brigades, the First Turkish Brigade, a 1,300-man French Contingent, 1,000 Canadian troops and Filipino, Siamese and Dutch infantry units.

Except for patrol encounters, Wednesday was another day of comparative quiet in the sectors north and northwest of Seoul, the South Korean capital.

To the northeast, however, renewed stiff fighting occurred as counter-attacking ROK troops regained ground lost the day before to a Communist thrust south of the 38th Parallel.

A delayed field dispatch meanwhile revealed that a Communist regiment last Sunday had surrounded an ROK battalion at Hyin, northeast of Chunchon which is 43 miles northeast of Seoul.

The South Koreans fought their way out of the enemy circle on Christmas Day and rejoined their main forces holding the eastern flank of the Eighth Army's defense belt above Seoul.

Stages of Chinese and North Korean troops continued deploying opposite the UN line northwest, north and northeast of the tense and partly depopulated South Korean capital.

Day and Night Bombings

These forces were subjected to day and night torrents of bombs, rockets and strafing fire from waves of Allied planes. Air strikes were credited with killing or wounding at least 1,600 Reds in the 36 hours up to midday Wednesday.

The U. S. Fifth Air Force announced at 5 p.m. Wednesday (3 a.m. Wednesday EST) that in one part of the front some 100 Red soldiers suffered a fierce attack by Mustang planes were so stunned that they dropped their weapons and surrendered.

The biggest of the enemy's pre-offensive thrusts up to mid-afternoon Wednesday were carried out in the middle of the Korean peninsula against the mountain-anchored inland flank of the Eighth Army's line.

There Red troops in battalion strength, apparently belonging to North Korea's resurrected 200,000-man army, launched an onslaught today, afternoon against units of the Republic of Korea (ROK) Third Corps.

The attack was made along Parallel 38 in a sector 14 miles northeast of Komchon and about 45 air miles northeast of Seoul.

Regain Lost Ground

The South Korean troops were pushed back more than a mile. Then American planes were called in and pummeled the attacking Communists, after which the ROK troops counter-attacked and were reported late Wednesday to be regaining the ground they had lost.

At the opposite end of the Eighth Army's defense chain, near the west coast, UN patrols spotted Chinese Communist buildup activities.

One patrol clashed with a group of 50 Reds and dispersed them near Changchon, only 27 miles northwest of Seoul and 18 miles east of the South Korean border hub of Kaesong, now occupied by the Chinese.

The Chinese hordes were concentrating chiefly in two areas.

One was around the North Korean junction of Yonchon, six miles above Parallel 38 and 35 miles due north of Seoul.

The other was in the district west of Kuhnwa, northwest of Seoul and north of the Imjin river defense sector of the Eighth Army's extreme left (west) flank.

Under Air Attack

Both of these staging areas were under continual air attack.

No less than six big enemy troop concentrations were blasted by 30 B-26 "Night Intruder" light bombers between dusk Tuesday and dawn Wednesday.

The B-26s also plastered 23 Red-held towns.

Fifth Air Force planes, in some 500 sorties during the 24-hour period ending midnight Tuesday, hit 994 enemy-occupied buildings, of which 601 were listed as completely destroyed and 393 damaged.

Scores of enemy vehicles and numerous supply dumps were knocked out.

An Eighth Army spokesman meanwhile said the main purpose of the Red probing thrusts was to determine the strength and disposition of the UN forces poised along the defense line above Seoul.

Voluntary Price Controls Doomed

NEW YORK, Dec. 27.—(INS)—The magazine Iron Age said today that voluntary price controls are doomed to failure even before they begin. It predicted that mandatory price controls are sure to be installed as soon as the economic stabilization agency can collect a big enough staff to enforce them.

Meantime, the publication reported that a careful check in widely separated areas of the country has revealed there is practically no hoarding of steel by regular customers. It noted that inventories are below normal, with most manufacturers, both large and small, in possession of less steel than their production requirements call for.

At the same time, Iron Age said that steel quotas of regular customers are being slashed to the bone, with a drop of more than 50 percent on some products.

It reported also, that some steel people are now convinced that a controlled materials plan will be placed in effect as early as March or April. The publication attributed this belief to the impact on defense orders and allocation programs already felt, and the additional ones that are expected early next year.

PAY HIKES

CONNELLSVILLE, Pa., Dec. 27.—(INS)—City council granted $10 to $25 pay hikes to city employees and replaced the occupational tax with a $5 per capita levy during a special session yesterday in Connelville.

The proposed 1951 budget of $299,032.25 is far below the estimated $400,000 which had been allotted for this year.

In Latin, "emeritus" means "having served one's time of service."

Don't be HALF-SAFE

by VALDA SHERMAN

Many mysterious changes take place in your body as you mature. Now, the glands under your arms begin to secrete daily a new type of perspiration containing substances which will—if they reach your dress—causally stains and clinging odor.

You'll face this problem throughout womanhood. It's not enough merely to stop the odor of this perspiration. You must now use a deodorant that stops the perspiration itself before it reaches—and ruins—your clothes.

As doctors know, not all deodorants stop both perspiration and odor. But Arrid does! It's been proved that the new cream deodorant Arrid stops underarm perspiration 1 to 3 days safely—keeps underarms dry and sweet.

Remember this, too: Arrid's antiseptic action kills odor on contact—prevents formation of odor up to 48 hours and keeps you "shower-bath" fresh. And it's safe for skin—safe for fabrics.

So, don't be half-safe. Don't risk your happiness with half-safe deodorants. Be Arrid-safe! Use Arrid to be sure. Arrid with Creamogen will not dry out, and it's so pleasant and easy to apply. Get Arrid today—only 50¢ plus tax.

Appleman Planning Meetings Continue

Another in the series of planning meetings for the Dr. Hyman J. Appleman campaign, which will be held in the city, February 26, through March 18, will be conducted Friday evening at 8 o'clock in the Y.M.C.A.

Rev. George Jones, pastor of the Alliance Tabernacle and chairman of the campaign, will meet with church laymen and pastors, when chairmen of various committees will be named at that time.

An invitation is extended to every active Protestant layman in the city, along with their pastors to participate in the campaign and the plans which are being formulated for it.

Cottage prayer meetings will be set up in the near future and will be conducted in homes throughout the city. The services will be conducted at the Cathedral, with noon day meetings planned for a downtown church.

The campaign which will be conducted in the city by Dr. Appleman, will be interdenominational in scope with participants from many churches in the city taking part. An organized choir of all the churches will be used throughout the campaign.

Plans have been completed for a mass meeting of all pastors to be conducted in the First Presbyterian church on January 15, when Rev. James Prentice, advance man for Dr. Appleman will discuss the various phases of the campaign with the pastors.

LET'S SWAB THE DECKS

On December 21, 330 years ago, a small band of colonists landed at Plymouth Rock. Rugged individualists, they determined to accept nothing less than complete personal freedom. No fear of tyranny, political pressure, nor obligation (except to one another as individuals) was to restrain their full and fruitful life.

Physical dangers they were ready and willing to accept in return for the richest of earthly rewards—complete religious and political freedom.

Let us for a moment compare this episode in American history to the ceremony of laying a keel for a mighty ship. Through individual effort and cooperation, this task was accomplished by a small group with an aim in life that could not fail.

This mighty ship called for great sacrifices and supreme individual effort, and was finally launched July 4, 146 years later. The splash of that launching sent forth a spray that was felt around the world.

Since her launching, this great ship has proved herself the most seaworthy ever built by man. She has weathered the fiercest storms, the roughest seas, and every type of cross tide, yet still remains on her course.

Barnacles have been permitted to accumulate on her sides like leeches, draining her life substance. Too many are traveling first class without earning their passage, burdening the many loyal officers and crew members, slowing her progress and wasting her natural vital power.

Shipmates of the good ship USA, let us swab the decks, scrape off the barnacles, calk the seams and expose the stowaways. Let us leave her to posterity the mighty queen of the seas her designers and builders meant her to be.

LABOR-MANAGEMENT PARLEY

Union circles expect the government to call a labor-management conference in Washington soon to discuss the stabilization program and maintenance of full defense production. Such a parley was held shortly after Pearl Harbor and a similar meeting seems to be in order now with the United States mobilization program being stepped up all along the line.

One of the main purposes of the labor-management session would be to obtain the advance support of both groups to government price-wage controls and the projected voluntary price program now being prepared. In addition, the issue of a no-strike pledge probably would be presented to labor.

Union leaders are expected to assent to such a pledge if assured that the cost of living will be stabilized. It is likely also that the conference would consider establishment of some type of machinery to handle labor disputes without stoppages in vital defense production.

The job might be delegated by President Truman to the Wage Stabilization Board headed by Cyrus S. Ching, although the agency feels it has no authority under the defense production act for such a role.

RESOLUTIONS

Comes now the time of year that traditionally was devoted to making New Year's resolutions in an earlier day. This was a merry custom that was good for many a quip or laugh and provided a prime conversational subject for many weeks.

It is a pity, in a way, that the custom of making New Year's resolutions has gradually died out. Little is heard of this once popular pastime these days. In fact, the current generations, both young and old, regard such proclivities as strictly on the corny side.

But 'twas not always thus. In grandpa's day making resolutions—or "turning over a new leaf," as it was sometimes dubbed—was an activity that was entered into wholeheartedly and in complete seriousness. What did it matter that the old reprobate always backslid the next day, the next week or the next month, and went back to smoking cheroots or to engage in some similar vice?

Yep, the making of resolutions was quite a pastime in its own right 40 or 50 years ago. It added hilarity to an otherwise somber scene, and nothing has appeared to take its place. Ah, well—such is progress.

When it comes to good will tours, we'll never be able to equal that of a fat, jolly, bearded gentleman whose initials are S. C.

It would be nice to get back to prewar times with Jeanie, she of the light brown hair, coming out of her deep retirement.

We agree with the poet that it's nice to have the frost on the pumpkin but it's a lot nicer to have a good pie crust beneath it.

In Pennsylvania a bear was killed by an automobile. But a more effective weapon is needed to down the one that walks like a man.

Eyes Turn Toward Indonesia

A baffled and bewildered world will turn eyes today to a faraway place, little in the news of the moment but which might at any time erupt into a vast area of Communist-inspired trouble.

It is Indonesia, which will celebrate its first independence day, a marking of the date one year ago when former Queen Wilhelmina of the Netherlands gave into their own keeping the vast population of the islands north of Australia.

Communist penetration of this area and its unsettling if not insidious effect upon native peoples far removed from the fountain-heads of Democratic influence and education gave trouble to the Far Eastern world long before the first Red invasion of South Korea last June.

Long Series of Uprisings
There has been a long series of uprisings. Many antedated the Indonesian "liberation," directed against the Dutch who for so long handled the islands' administration; then later against Republican authorities qualified by the United Nations to conduct Indonesia's affairs.

The day of independence being celebrated tomorrow in Batavia, Java, Bali and the other capitals of islands strung like a necklace in the southeast Asian seas coincides with the test of endurance between philosophies described well by King George VI of England in his somber Christmas day message to the commonwealth that exists today in place of an empire that has gone.

The monarch had this to say: "In the beginning of this new half century, man may have to choose between two paths."

The Parent Problem

By Garry C. Myers, Ph. D.

WHEN YOUNGSTER'S FRIENDS ARE LIMITED

Often it is the talented youth with many resources within himself for amusements who is the lonely timid one. He may have got that way during his earlier years. Any boy or girl between the ages of 6 and 12, on finding some things not to his liking among other children, will leave them to amuse himself alone; and if he easily finds self-amusement at reading, craftsmanship, or even from radio or television, grows the more ready to leave the group on the slightest pretext. And the more time he thus spends alone, the less practice he has had at play skills and the art of getting along with others.

When this same youth enters high school he may feel still less comfortable among his contemporaries. And how to socialize him is no easy problem.

"Dear Dr. Myers: I have followed your articles for some time and have received much help."

In High School
"We have a son (only child), fourteen, fresher in high school, making an average of B in grades. He has always been well liked. Not a difficult child. He and his father have always been pals. When he became 12 years old, he was interested airplane building and flying, chemistry, and butterfly collecting. Now he has simmered his friendships down to two boys (never with them as a group just singly). One is a lone-wolf type, only one friend at a time, jealous when he is with anyone else. The other is a very queer type, no one seems to care for him. Even though they recognize his ability in airplane building. My son sees their weaknesses but says there is no one else interested in the things he is interested in. We want him to be in a group, games and club. He is becoming very distant and I think very unhappy. He will not call boys or enter a group unless invited. Then he is most pleased. Returns very happy."

"There are no boys his age on this street. He has to go several blocks. Therefore, he spends much time working alone."
"We have given him all kinds of equipment for play and encouraged him to invite boys to the house. But he says he would rather work on planes alone."
"Both his father and I were timid in our youth and can't say we have fully conquered it. We don't want Jimmy to suffer what we did."
"We have always been very strict in our training. In the past we haven't allowed him out at night unless going to Scouts, games, or with a party. He never just goes out to be on the street with boys or to shows at night. This he has never minded. Content to read or work at home of evening."
"Now I wonder if we have been too close to him and the other boys hesitate to include him. Maybe we are at fault. At times he gets irritable and I feel he is unhappy."

My personal reply, in substance: A Good Pal
Perhaps you should relax a bit on controls of this boy and encourage him to go to games and shows occasionally with other boys. Since Dad is a good pal of this boy, he might accompany the lad occasionally to games, always trying to have several other boys with them, until the lad prefers to go only with the other boys. By and by some other boys might be attracted to your home to join your son in his craftsmanship. However, he hardly should drop those other boys suddenly.

How about considering a camp for him next summer? Also by conference with a few men teachers you might induce them to find ways of attracting this boy to participate in some of the school sports and other activities. A related bulletin of mine is "The Lonely Timid Youth" (to be had by sending a self-addressed stamped envelope to me at 235 East 45th street, New York, N. Y.). Younger parents should study my bulletin "Your Child and His Playmates" to be had in like manner.

Discretion is something that comes to a person after he's too old for it to do him any good. "Clipped."

Too many drivers try to drive at night at the same speed as in the daytime, instead of with the same factor of safety. They over-drive their headlights, and hold to a speed from which it is not physically possible to come to a stop in the distance of their clear vision ahead. In an emergency they are unable to avoid trouble. Your speed should go down with the sun.

All I know about leadership or teaching the peak is that a man standing on the top rung of a ladder isn't nearly as safe as if he had stopped just before he got there.

Or as the man who stepped into the elevator shaft called up, "Watch out for that first step, it's a high one."

As I understand it "united" means "joined as a unit." It doesn't mean "follow me boys" or even "last one in is a sissy."

The next year would be a good one in which to get over the idea that we were appointed, elected or ordained to lead the world.

HE MAY GET HIS WISH!

New Yorker's Problem

(By HENRY McLEMORE)

I wish I were an old, old man with rheumatism.

You may consider that a crazy wish and wonder why I don't wish that I were a young, young man with a yacht, a washboard stomach, two front-row seats to "Guys and Dolls," and a mink coat factory.

But it isn't a crazy wish. Not if you are a middle-aged man who lives 'way up in a New York apartment building, and it's winter.

If I were an old, old man and had rheumatism I could always judge the weather. When it was snappy weather my joints would only creak. When it was bitter cold they would sound like castanets. This would enable me to know how to dress for going out. I'd know whether to wear just a simple, single-breasted georgette or dotter swiss suit, or whether to slip on a double-breasted satin-back crepe or velveteen jacket for more warmth.

Much Different
Living in a house, where you can just walk out the front door in your bathrobe to find out what the weather is like, is much different from living high in an apartment. For me to find out what the weather is in New York I have to dress, go down ten floors, walk through a big lobby, pass a doorman, and walk out on Park avenue.

And when I get there I am likely to not find out what I dressed all wrong. The only thing I can be sure of, without going down ten floors, is whether it's raining or not.

So—and I suspect I am like a million other New York apartment dwellers in this respect—I depend on the elevator men, the man who brings the morning and afternoon papers, the grocery delivery boy and the doorman, for my weather reports.

Not So Simple
This sounds simple enough, but it isn't. At first I took the word of the boy, the old Senator hurling so, credited with pitching a speedier ball than anyone else in the history of baseball. When the "Big Train," as he was affectionately nicknamed, breezed his fast one over the plate, batsmen often swore they never even saw it go by.

In his youth, they say Johnson eschewed the traditional rifle when he hunted squirrels, and bagged them by shying rocks at them. Furthermore, he threw the rocks left-handed. "Gotta," he explained to a curious observer, "I always throw 'em up too bad when I use my right arm."

A mail order book house, assiduously peddling a warmed-over marriage manual, sent out half a million circulars captioned, "Do you know how to hold a wife?" One return card came from Alcatraz Prison. It read, "I found an effective way was around the neck, but it shouldn't be overdone. Kindly note change of address."

So, every year on their wedding anniversary the Nelsons get married all over again.

They say their vows just as they first did fourteen years ago. They have a minister, a best man, bridesmaids, guests, a wedding cake and a party.

Some people may think that that is too much ado about a universal institution.

Aren't most people married? Isn't marriage an integral part of life?

That's just it. Marriage, with most people, has become TOO commonplace.

It has lost what both bride and groom expected when he proposed and she accepted.

Then it was a dream, a hope, a great adventure.

It was supposed to be the culmination, the high spot, the beginning of a new life of fulfillment.

Instead it became a struggle, a drudgery, a chore, a habit.

Washington Calling

(By MARQUIS CHILDS)

Mobilization Chief Faces Big Job

WASHINGTON, Dec. 27.—If ever anyone had a man-sized job cut out for him, it is Charles E. Wilson. Wilson has resigned from the presidency of the General Electric Company to become head of the Office of Defense Mobilization. The familiar publicity build-up has begun, with emphasis on his origins in the vicinity of Brooklyn Bridge.

According to advance reports, Wilson cares less than nothing for that sort of thing. He is said to be a tough operator interested solely in getting a job done. Wilson will need all his toughness and his know-how to do what has to be done here.

The plain fact is that contracts for vital defense orders are not being placed at anything like the speed which the crisis of unpreparedness calls for. Where the blame lies is a matter of dispute and the subject of the kind of buck-passing that is a Washington specialty.

Civilian officials are inclined to blame the Pentagon for failing to come up with an overall program of mobilization needs. Even if this were true, however, it hardly excuses the delays that have occurred. Certain basic steps so obviously had to be taken.

First Essential

It was first of all essential to build up the supplies of vital materials, with emphasis on metals. This was necessary both to make the machines of war and for stockpiling.

Yet on such a fundamental matter as the expansion of aluminum production a long series of delays had held up action. Toward the end of August the first moves were made. Some delay resulted from a controversy over whether production should be expanded in Canada or the United States.

Decision Reached

The decision was reached to expand the capacity of American companies. Three of them already producers, and two new companies. The three firms already in the field had plants that could be re-activated within a fairly short time.

There were more delays as the negotiations passed from one government department to another. It was difficult to tell whether the fault lay in an excess of caution or merely in bureaucratic duplication and rivalry. Nearly a month ago press releases were issued by the General Services Administration saying that agreements had actually been reached with two of the large producers, Alcoa and Reynolds Metals.

These press releases seem to have been premature, to say the least. In any event, the necessary agreements were not signed at that time. Some of the contracts are still unsigned.

Not Worth Wasting Time

In view of the present urgency, it is not worth wasting much time over where the blame for this delay should lie. Wilson has a sweeping grant.

Veterans who have spent years fighting their way through the jungle of Washington bureaucracy report that they can never remember a time when it was so full of confusion and uncertainty. If the rearmament effort is to proceed with anything like the requisite speed, the way must be cut through this underbrush.

Looking At Life

By ERICH BRANDEIS

Did you read about that 47-year-old woman in Anaheim, Calif., who got married for the FOURTEENTH time a little while ago?

"What is so unusual about that?" you may ask, since Anaheim is so close to Hollywood. And, according to the press agents, multiple marriages are nothing uncommon in Hollywood.

(Incidentally, there must be something queer about MY Hollywood friends. Of about fifty Hollywood couples I can think of at the moment, only one has been divorced. All the others are still on their first marriage. Perhaps I should look around for some more publicity-conscious friends.)

This 47-year-old woman has just been married for the fourteenth time.

But the unusual feature about it is that every one of her marriages has been to THE SAME MAN.

Mrs. Paul E. Nelson and her husband have ideas of their own about marriage.

I leave it to your judgment whether their ideas are good or not.

The Nelsons think that marriage is something that should not become stale and commonplace. They think that marriage should not be taken for granted.

To them marriage is not just a pair of old slippers that you slide into so easily without ever paying any attention to them.

They think that marriage should be kept ALIVE and nourished like a lovely plant that is watered and enriched and cared for.

So, every year on their wedding anniversary the Nelsons get married all over again.

They say their vows just as they first did fourteen years ago.

They have a minister, a best man, bridesmaids, guests, a wedding cake and a party.

Some people may think that that is too much ado about a universal institution.

Sometimes the person who eats the peanuts is pretty much of a nut himself. He throws the shells around and messes things up. That is no fault of the peanuts. They afford good nourishment just the same. They taste good, too. They are rich in protein and fat. When it comes to popularity the little old peanut is no slouch. You can roast him or boil him or grind him and he is just as good as ever.

Harrel was in the oil business until his retirement two months ago.

Says Money Being Loaned Too Cheaply

PHILADELPHIA, Dec. 27.—(INS)—William F. Kurtz, president of the Pennsylvania Company for Banking and Trusts, said in a year-end report today that "the commercial banking system in general is lending money too cheaply."

"Like all business, the banks are facing increased payrolls and higher general expenses," he explained. "They should be compensated for these costs in their rate structure and should be plowing back more earnings into their capital structures."

Kurtz said the Pennsylvania Company earned a gross $16,104,887 for the fiscal year ending last November 30, an increase of more than 1.5 million dollars over the preceding year.

He criticized what he termed "governmental extravagance," declaring:

"We are squarely faced with inflationary pressures that must be met if the deterioration of the dollar is to be checked. It demands courage and wisdom and sacrifice to preserve our economy and all the blessings we have come to accept as an endowment."

Marine Hospital At Ellis Island Closes March 1

WASHINGTON, Dec. 27.—(INS)—The government today announced that the U. S. Marine hospital at Ellis Island, N. Y., will be closed next March 1 "in the interests of efficiency and economy."

Federal Security Administrator Oscar R. Ewing said that admissions to the hospital will stop on January 1 and current patients will be transferred as rapidly as possible to U. S. Marine hospitals at Staten Island and Manhattan Beach, Brooklyn.

The Ellis Island hospital, originally for immigrants, has been serving merchant seamen and other public health service beneficiaries as well as immigrants since 1920.

But Ewing said that this year the patient load has averaged only slightly more than 200 a month and "much of the plant equipment is either too old or too obsolete to give efficient service."

Metal Miners Escape

Colorado Mine Fire

OPHIR, Colo., Dec. 27.—(INS)—The Silver Bell mine near Ophir was idle today while crews repaired damage caused by a fire that for a time threatened the lives of 20 metal miners.

Fire broke out in an air compressor shed yesterday and spread rapidly to a wooden snowshed at the entrance of the mine's main tunnel.

A solid sheet of flame cut off the entrance but 19 of the men climbed ladders from the main level to another tunnel and walked 700 feet down a snow-covered mountainside to safety.

Miner Lupe Jimenez, 23, was missing four hours but was found unharmed in the rear of the tunnel after the fire had been brought under control.

Bard Is Big-Office On Broadway

NEW YORK, Dec. 27.—The Bard is big box-office on Broadway these days and if the SRO audiences continue to flock to see Louis Calhern's magnificent performance in "King Lear", there is even talk of putting Will's name up in lights.

In view of the fact Shakespeare is generally regarded as the premier dramatist of the western world, it is odd how seldom he can find a Broadway producer. Or maybe the dearth is in dedicated Shakespearean actors.

This, apparently, is the first generation in which Shakespearean actors have been an under-the-counter item. John Gielgud and Sir Laurence Olivier from time to time devote their talent to Will, but not in the whole-hearted and more-or-less continuous tradition of Sir Henry Irving and Edwin Booth, if we are to believe grand-ma.

Of even in the later-day tradition of E. H. Sothern and Robert Mantell who trooped the road with "Shakespeare" for decades, I never arrived in New York too late to see John Barrymore in what the critics generally regard as the best "Hamlet" of our times.

Remember Mantell
However, I do remember seeing Robert Mantell as "Macbeth", a performance that scared the wits out of me only because the actor was by that time so venerable I would have taken odds that he would be finished before the play. At that, it was a photo finish.

But I am blessed with two scholarly friends who can remember Mantell in his prime when, as spear carriers in the actor's production of "Henry V", they reversed Mantell, Shakespeare and history.

The year is 1905; the scene, Columbia university. The first of the dramatist personae to enter is Mantell's casting director. He went to the university to recruit from its Shakespearean classes the French and English armies that clash in the battle of Agincourt, in which Henry V, in the person of Mantell, was once more to lead the English archers to resounding victory.

Callous to class distinctions, the director unfortunately recruited the French army first, and from the sophomore class in Shakespeare. He then compounded the tactical blunder by enlisting the English army from freshman devotees of the bard.

Rewrite History

Both John Wheeler, now a syndicate chief, and Henry Sneyly, the general manager, were members of the sophomore class. And, as Sneyly points out, after the first rehearsal it became apparent at once that indignant and proud sophomores were about to rewrite history and the bard. They were in no mood to be pushed around by freshmen in the interests of art or accuracy.

The sophs sent a committee to remonstrate with the casting director but he was a hardened sort, indifferent to the cloistered nuances of university life, and pointed out that they were getting 50 cents a night and the chance to see a great thespian work, so what?

It was plain that the sophs in the livery of the French would have to redress their own grievances. Before the third night's performance, they threw down the gauge to the frosh and each class packed the galleries with its own adherents.

Was A Battle Royal

From the moment the famous battle scene began, it was a battle royal. The swords turned out to be tin and bent too easily to inflict any real damage. The opposition armies took to fisticuffs. Warriors, locked in battle, fell into the orchestra pit, and innocent musicians went down like ninepins.

In the meantime, the freshmen and sophomores in the gallery were joyously beating each other up. Blood streamed from a hundred noses. Mantell had hysteria and ordered the curtain rung down, but an enchanted audience pelted the curtain and demanded that it go up and the fight go on.

"We French sophs rewrote the Shakespeare and history that night," Sneyly recalls, "and for the first and only time on record, the French beat the hell out of the English at Agincourt."

"You wouldn't know it to look at me," he adds modestly, "but I am one hell of an actor, and I haven't ever enjoyed Shakespeare so much before or since."

Continue Search For Stolen Stone

LONDON, Dec. 27.—(INS)—The aid of British newspapers was enlisted today by Scotland Yard in the vast search for the stolen historic "Stone of Scone," disappearance of which has caused authorities to seal the border between England and Scotland.

Police requested all newspapers to publish pictures of the 336-pound sandstone, known also as "The Stone of Destiny," which thieves took from Westminster Abbey Christmas day.

The closing of the border between the two nations for the first time in 400 years and other efforts so far have not produced a sign of Britain's ancient coronation stone. It has little intrinsic value but Westminster Dean Alan Don said, "It is the most precious relic we have."

A Scottish official said the stone was more important to Scotsmen "than the declaration of independence is to Americans."

A reinforced police dragnet operated on both sides of the border to prevent the possible removal of the stone into Scotland. Automobiles, trucks and even horse drawn carts were searched as was train luggage.

Two Airmen Hurt In Plane Crash In Colorado Area

SALIDA, Colo., Dec. 27.—(INS)—Two airmen, one of whom walked six miles for aid despite a broken ankle, will be returned to Denver for treatment of injuries suffered when their plane crashed in the wild Ute trail country.

Cpl. Quentin Redshaw, 20, of Dove Creek, crawled from the wrecked plane, and found the pilot, 23-year-old Cpl. Robert L. Phelps, of Dolores, unconscious. Redshaw covered Phelps with a blanket, and set out through deep snow drifts to summon aid. The trip took two hours.

Phelps was in critical condition at Rio Grande hospital in Salida. The corporals, both stationed at Lowry Air Force base, spent Christmas Day at their southwestern Colorado homes, and were returning to Denver yesterday in the rented plane.

U.M.T. Drive Is Planned In Next Congress

By RAYMOND WILCOVE
U. S. Staff Correspondent

WASHINGTON, Dec. 27.—Chairman Vinson (D) Ga., of the House armed services committee, announced today that a new drive will be made next year for enactment of a program of compulsory peacetime military service.

In the works is an administration proposal for a combined draft-universal military training program which will be called universal military service.

President Truman is expected to launch the drive in his state-of-the-union message upon the convening of the 82nd Congress Jan. 3. He may also submit a special message later dealing with the subject.

Vinson said public hearings will open before his committee by Jan. 18 on new legislation contemplating a universal military training program during peacetime and a combined draft and training program during war.

Vinson acted quickly in the wake of the disclosure by Rep. Short (R) Mo., formerly a leading opponent of U.M.T., that certain compulsory peacetime military training in view of the world crisis.

Vinson said he will confer with Short, who is the top-ranking committee Republican, Friday on the administration's plans.

Apparent Program

Vinson told a reporter that he was confident he will be able to reach an agreement with Short on the legislation.

The administration program apparently contemplates:

1. Registration of youths at age 17.

2. In peacetime, two years of military training between the ages of 18 and 20.

3. During war one year of military training for 18-year-olds, who would be inducted into actual military service at age 19.

4. Upon conclusion of military training men would go into the reserve and would be subject to several weeks of refresher courses in the field each year until they became 45.

Vinson stated that while the present crisis continued, although it is not officially characterized as war, men would continue to be inducted at age 19. In the meantime, 18-year-olds would receive a year's training.

UMT has lain dormant since 1948, when President Truman dropped his fight for a peacetime training program after it became evident congressional approval could not be obtained and settled instead for a draft of men aged 19 through 25.

State Teachers Are In Session At Harrisburg

HARRISBURG, Dec. 27.—(INS)—Higher salaries for teachers and increased subsidies for school districts top the agenda of the Pennsylvania State Education Association's 1950 convention opening today at Harrisburg.

Sixty-thousand educators are represented in the 98-year-old association.

Delegates attending the three-day conclave will endorse a program for consideration during the session of the General Assembly starting January 2.

Teacher retirement problems, welfare, professional ethics and public relations will share the limelight along with proposals of legislation to raise teachers' economic status in line with a higher cost of living.

Gov. James H. Duff, who has supported rises in schoolmen's pay as chief executive, will speak to the 2500 PSEA representatives tomorrow night.

"Enduring values in a changing world," theme of the convention, will be the subject of another address by Dr. Leslie P. Hill, president of Cheyney State Teachers College.

The program to be submitted by the 12-member legislative committee will tally up to a $92,000,000 increase in education costs if it is accepted.

May Identify Body Of Murder Victim

NEW YORK, Dec. 27.—(INS)—Police searched today for the lover of a woman believed to be the torso murder victim whose nude body was found Nov. 4 in two suitcases in a locker of the Long Island railroad's Brooklyn terminal.

A stepmother, worried when a Christmas card failed to arrive, opened the trail which led detectives to identify the mutilated corpse tentatively as that of Dorothy Martin, 35.

Police admitted they were looking for Pasquale Donofrio, 36, a house painter, who lived with Miss Martin in a furnished room, a short block from the station where the torso murder victim was found.

FRENCH TOAST

NEW YORK.—Here's a way to make French toast for breakfast. Simply place two or three eggs and a little milk in a bowl and mix with an egg beater. Dip a slice of bread into the mixture and fry it in the pan. One rule to remember, though, is that the frying should be very hot. Have it sizzling, then add a little butter and fry the toast quickly. Don't let the toast get too hard.

SOCIAL SECURITY COVERS FULL TIME FARM WORKERS

Under the new social security law, regularly employed farm workers will become eligible for social security on January 1, 1951. To be "regularly employed" a farm worker must be continuously employed by one farmer for an entire calendar quarter, and in the next quarter work for the same farmer on a full-time basis at least 60 days. A calendar quarter is a period of three months ending March 31, June 30, September 30 or December 31.

Farmers who employ farm workers eligible for social security must pay the collector of internal revenue three per cent of the cash wages paid such workers in the preceding quarter. The three per cent applies only to cash wages, and of this sum one-half (1½ per cent) is deducted from the worker's wages.

Farm workers may check with their nearest social security office to determine whether they are eligible for social security. If they are, they will receive a social security card.

CHECK LOCAL MARKETS FOR BROILER BARGAINS

With a surplus of broiling chickens on the market, and a drop in price, homemakers in Lawrence county are urged to check their local markets for a bargain in broilers.

These young chickens, weighing not over 2½ pounds, can be split down the back and broiled whole. Birds that are larger are usually split in half to make two servings. You can break the joints and remove the wing tips to flatten the chicken and make it easier to eat.

To prepare broilers, clean the bird well in warm water and dry thoroughly. Brush it with melted fat—butter or other cooking fat—and sprinkle with salt and pepper. Place chicken on the broiler pan with the skin side down, away from the heat. Broil under moderate heat. To regulate heat place the chicken five to six inches from the flame or broiling unit. Heat also will be reduced if the oven door is open.

Turn the chicken several times as it broils. Baste it with the drippings. A 2-pound broiler will take 35 to 45 minutes to cook thoroughly. Test the chicken for tenderness by sticking the point of a knife into the thick part of the drumstick. Chicken should cut easily. The joint between the drumstick and thigh will bend easily when the broiler is cooked.

You can cook the chicken partly under the broiler and finish it in the oven at 300 to 350 degrees F., or start it in the oven and finish under the broiler. Pre-cook the giblets, then warm them under the broiler to save for another meal to serve on rice. Meaty pieces of broilers may be fried and the bony pieces cooked for soup.

Huge Casualties Are Inflicted On Chinese Invaders

TOKYO, Dec. 27.—(INS)—Fifty per cent casualties were reported today by an independent Chinese newspaper to have been inflicted on two crack divisions of Red China's 38th and 40th Route Armies in Korea.

The Pan-Asia newspaper alliance reported from Taipei that Chinese Nationalist intelligence officers disclosed the costly casualties inflicted by United Nations troops on Gen. Lin Piao's invading hordes.

The Nationalist intelligence sources were quoted by the newspaper as reporting the more significant fact is that both the 38th and 40th Armies are the backbone of Lin Piao's forces.

PIGEONS ROUTED
FULTON, Ky.—Neighbors wondered what had happened when they heard a volley of shots from the direction of their First Methodist Church. Three of the churchmen, afraid that the pigeons there were about to "take over," started blasting away with shotguns and disposed of nearly 100 in one afternoon.

Tennis racket frames usually are made of ash or hickory. Handles usually are made of cedar.

SUBSTITUTE DINNER GUEST

"A few days ago, I was invited to a dinner party at a friend's house. I declined the invitation because it was a last-minute affair. She asked me to substitute for someone unable to attend. I pleaded a previous engagement because I thought it insulting to be just an after-thought—considered a substitute. Do you agree with me?"

Answer: It all depends upon the circumstances. Only a very good friend should be called upon to do such a great favor. A friend who had previously been entertained by the hostess. And the hostess should be very diplomatic in approaching her substitute. She might say something of this sort: "Peggy, I'm in a spot and hope you can help me. Tomorrow I'm having a dinner party and one of my guests is unable to come. Will you do me a big favor and come in her place?"

No one should be embarrassed or insulted when approached in that way. The guest who thus obliges a hostess should be repaid very soon with a bona fide invitation.

So, if you are a good friend of the hostess, you should have accepted, if you were free. On the other hand, she should not have asked you thus to "fill in" unless she had previously entertained you and unless she knows you well.

Question: I am a young married woman. I have two or three neighbors whom I frequently call on the telephone. We do not call one another by Christian names. Should I announce myself as "Mrs. Jones" when I call?

Answer: Even though your acquaintance has not reached the first name stage, you should announce yourself as "Anne Jones" and not "Mrs. Jones".

More Than Eight Times Sound Speed

WASHINGTON, Dec. 27.—(INS)—The Navy's research in guided missiles led today to a wind tunnel air flow more than eight times the speed of sound.

Dr. P. P. Wegener of the Naval Ordnance Laboratory said that the tremendous air speed, triple the velocity of World War II missiles, was aimed at producing "essential design information for vastly superior weapons."

The miles per hour achieved by the air in the tunnel was not revealed, but sound travels at about 760 mph at sea level with a temperature of 50 degrees Fahrenheit. The great speed was achieved by causing air at "considerable" pressure to flow through a tiny nozzle into an expanding throat.

Sound waves can be used to mix oil and water.

THE FAMILY SCRAPBOOK

By DR. ERNEST G. OSBORNE

Enjoy Difference

"Yes," smiled Mrs. Ortman, "Billy does much better in his school work, but Art is a joy to have around. He's always in such good spirits."

In the Drobish family, 12-year-old Anne is the beauty. But everyone appreciates Susan's wonderful sense of humor.

We all know if we stop to think, that our children differ from one another in many ways. Too often, though, we place such value on certain qualities in one child that we are blind to the good points of the others. If the Ortman family believed that good school work is more important than anything else, they would have a hard time appreciating Art's even temper and his friendly spirit. And if the Drobishes found a great deal of satisfaction in having a lovely-looking child, they might well overlook Susan's wit.

When we are truly able to appreciate each child's particular qualities, we avoid building attitudes of competition that are likely to contribute to feelings of inferiority. And as we make each one feel successful and approved of in those things he does well, he may very well improve considerably in other activities in which he doesn't ordinarily shine.

FRUIT PEACE
DODDINGTON, Eng.—Britain's Fruitarian Society today offered mankind a free and simple prescription for building a race of superhumans—"less chewing and more thinking." Secretary Evelyn

Clare Oliver, speaking for the society founded in 1903 to form a "great crusade" for a "human and humane" diet, declared that the way to becoming a superhuman was to live on "the kindly fruits of the earth."

'South Pacific' Is Still Going Strong In New York

By INEZ ROBB
(N. Y. Staff Correspondent)
NEW YORK, Dec. 27.—The man of distinction of 1951 will be a carbon copy of the man of distinction of 1950. He will be the miracle man who can obtain two seats immediately for "South Pacific" without aid of a gun, influence or a note under the counter.
As the old year wanes, "South Pacific" is still going great guns, still has an advance sale of $500,000 (or enough to drive other shows crazy) and is still the best musical hit in town. The only question now is this: Can Mary Martin, the prima donna of the musical, hold out as long as "South Pacific?"
The fair-haired boy of 1951 will be the distinguished lad who can get immediate seats to "Guys and Dolls" without use of said gun, influence, or a note under the counter. "Guys and Dolls," which opened only a few weeks ago, is breathing hard on the neck of "South Pacific," the old timer, in the popularity sweepstakes.
Solid Hit of Season
"Guys and Dolls," a two-act musical dice game compiled from the late Damon Runyon's Broadway stories and characters, is a solid hit of the current season, as is

Actress Lynn Bari Granted Divorce

HOLLYWOOD, Dec. 27.—(INS)—Actress Lynn Bari, 31, who described her marriage to producer Sid Luft, 34, as "eight years of slavery," has her freedom today.

Superior Judge Thurmond Clarke granted the film star a divorce yesterday after she testified.

"He'd leave the house in the evening saying he was going to get a newspaper and he'd come back at 6 a.m. He didn't care about a home. He preferred nightclubs and I didn't."

Luft's nightclub companion in recent weeks has been actress Judy Garland, who recently announced her separation from director Vincente Minnelli. But in a statement, Luft said he has no intention of marrying Judy, that they are "just good friends."

Betty Hutton Will File For Divorce

HOLLYWOOD, Dec. 27.—(INS)—Actress Betty Hutton is expected to file suit for divorce today or tomorrow against Ted Briskin, Chicago manufacturing executive.

Briskin's attorney, George Dever, disclosed that a Christmas week-end during which the bouncy singing film star and Briskin spent much time together with their two small children failed to heal the rift between the couple.

Betty, who previously filed a divorce suit and then dismissed it in an effort to make a success of the marriage, has been "invited," Dever said, "to file suit."

CHICAGO, Dec. 27.—(INS)—Nine million Methodists have been asked to observe next Sunday as a "Mid-Century Day of Prayer For Peace."

Bishop J. Ralph Magee of Chicago, president of the denomination's Council of Bishops, declared last night:

"Earnest, widespread prayers for peace may be the only way to create an atmosphere in which the world's crucial problems can be solved peacefully."

Bishop Magee said Dec. 31 is "especially fitting" for prayers because it is the "last day of the old year and the turning point of the mid-century."

Mrs. Vogeler Gives Up Hope Of Early Release Of Husband

VIENNA, Dec. 27.—(INS)—Mrs. Robert A. Vogeler, "downhearted" because the only Christmas wish of her two sons—"that those people let daddy come home"—went unfulfilled, planned today to send the boys back to America.

She said she is doing so after giving up all immediate hope that her husband, jailed as a spy by the Hungarian Communists, will be set free.

This holiday season was the second unhappy one for the Vogeler family and Mrs. Vogeler said she is sending Bobby, 10, and Billy, 9, to live with Robert A. Vogeler, Sr., in New York.

The blonde, flemish-born beauty up until now had steadfastly insisted that "all three of us will stick it out in Vienna until Bob comes home."

But now Mrs. Vogeler, discouraged by the failures to get her husband released, said she is planning to dispatch her sons to the United States.

Vogeler, an official of the International Telephone and Telegraph company, was arrested in November, 1949, while on a business trip between Vienna and Budapest. He was sentenced to 15 years in a case branded as a sham and fraud by the U. S.

Hopes Of Mother Of Korean War Victim Are Dashed

MIDDLEBURG, Pa., Dec. 27.—(INS)—The widowed mother of the Korean war's first quadruple amputee resigned herself to the raw truth today after tortuous hours of anxiety in which conflicting reports raised and dashed her hopes that it might all be a mistake.

Mrs. Clara Smith of Middleburg said she would accept an American Legion offer to fly her to the bedside of her 20-year-old son, Pfc. Robert L. Smith, who is being transferred from Travis Air Force Base, Calif., to Walter Reed hospital in Washington.

Grief stricken, she was at a loss for words beyond her first explosive sob that "it can't be, he's too young," when she first heard the news. Later, she said haltingly: "I am trying to be brave, but it isn't easy. Maybe this will make people realize what is going on. There are so many who don't seem to care."

Her hopes lifted for a time after the first shock, when she received a defense department telegram saying her son had been "slightly wounded."

But confirmation that he had lost parts of both arms and legs came late yesterday from Col. A. H. Corliss, commanding officer at the air base, who described the veteran as a quadruple amputee.

The army later explained the amputations were necessitated by frostbite which resulted from an injury Smith suffered on Nov. 27.

Mrs. Smith appeared heartened by the hospital's statement that her son's morale and condition are excellent, and his chances of rehabilitation are very good.

There were two American quadruplegics during World War II, James W. Wilson of Star, Fla., and Frederic Hensel of Corbin, Ky.

In addition to its offer to fly Mrs. Smith to her son, the American Legion's Pennsylvania department quickly established a Robert L. Smith fund, with $1000, and asked the public for contributions.

Report Is Given Of Destruction By Quake In August

BOMBAY, Dec. 27.—(INS)—A terrific earthquake which rocked Assam last August was reported today to have killed 1,526 persons and caused $50,400,000 worth of property damage.

Calcutta geologist Dr. Ramachandra Rao said the summit of Mt. Everest, the world's highest peak, may have been pushed several hundred feet higher as a result of the quake.

Dr. Rao said the present height of Mt. Everest is now "anybody's guess pending the results of a new survey."

The terrifying quake defaced 15,000 square miles of hills, dales, jungles, ruined food crops and caused scores of streams to change their course. Vast lakes mysteriously appeared and jungle landslides added to the destruction during the quake.

Hundreds of villages were buried by the landslides. One entire tribe, with the exception of just 17 persons, was wiped out.

Three Pittsburgh Communists Face January Trial

PITTSBURGH, Dec. 27.—(INS)—Three Pittsburgh district Communist party leaders today faced the prospect of a January trial because two criminal court jurors denied an appeal to quash their indictment on charges of violating the state's anti-sedition act.

Judges Henry Ellenbogen and Clarence B. Nixon denied the appeal in a special order yesterday. Their decision apparently was reached in near record time because attorney Hyman Schlesinger filed his appeal last Saturday.

The three communists, Steve Nelson, James Dolson and Andrew Onda, will stand trial next Tuesday in criminal court.

Schlesinger in his appeal had claimed there was insufficient evidence and that the case will be heard by judges in the same court in which Judge Michael A. Musmanno serves. Musmanno had brought the charges during his unsuccessful attempt to be elected lieutenant governor last November.

Transfer Not Made

HARRISBURG, Dec. 27.—(INS)—There has been no move so far at State Police Headquarters to switch the operations center of the detail assigned to the Pennsylvania Turnpike from Bedford to Harrisburg since the eastern extension opening. . . One official pointed out that the detail assigned to the eastern extension between Middlesex and King of Prussia is in constant radiophone contact via patrol cars with Bedford, which has been headquarters for turnpike troopers ever since the Middlesex-Irwin section was opened 10 years ago. . . At least 12 men patrol the 100-mile eastern extension while about double that work the Irwin-Middlesex stretch. . . With the exception of several non-commissioned officers and a lieutenant, most of the turnpike troopers are second class privates. . . The reason being that their salaries are underwritten by the commission and second class privates receive smaller wages thus reducing operating costs.

U. S. Senator-elect James H. Duff has made no special effort to wrangle posts on certain committees after his service begins in mid-January. . . Duff will be among the freshmen senators and thus.

The Department of Property and Supplies will be hard pressed until January 3 to get the House of Representatives in order for the opening of the 139th regular session. . . Failure of the manufacturer to arrange for speedy shipment of light blue carpeting has held up placement of seats and desks removed last summer when the renovation was started. . . Sessions continued until the present Capitol building, dedicated in 1906, was opened to the Legislature. . . Inasmuch as the church's facilities are not as large as those for the Legislature at the Capitol, the number of legislative employees will have to be cut sharply to allow the 258 lawmakers plus the essential workers to be on hand. . . The Pennsylvania National Guard, which has a military history going back more than 200 years, received property from the federal government during the past four years valued at more than $305,000,000, according to State Adj. Gen. F. A. Weber. . . In addition, the legislature allocated $11,161,000 to the guard during the same period. . . Army drill and field pay, doled out by the federal government, amounted to $17,000,000 annually, Weber has reported. . . Immediately after World War II, the PNC embraced only about 1,200 men but the reactivation of the 28th Division coupled with post war expansion of the overall organization raised the total to 23,850 officers and enlisted men, Weber has disclosed.

Store Owner Sets
Stage For Holdup

NEW YORK, Dec. 27.—(INS)—A New York clothing store owner unwittingly set the stage for a $1700 holdup when he opened his shop for two earlybird "customers".

Samuel Magelwsky, 60, told police he found two men waiting for him when he arrived at his lower Manhattan store. The older of the pair told him:

"Glad you came. I want to get an overcoat for my son."

Magelwsky opened the door and then excused himself briefly, saying:

"Just a minute while I turn off the burglar alarm."

He said the men slugged, robbed and locked him in a rest room after he turned off the automatic alarm.

Corn Belt States
Lead In Cashing
In Savings Bonds

WASHINGTON, Dec. 27.—(INS)—The Agriculture Department says that corn belt and great plains states led the nation's farm areas in cashing in savings bonds after the Korean war began.

The department says that although the tendency of farmers to reduce their bond holdings was widespread after the outbreak of the Korean conflict, the corn belt and the great plains were regions where decreases in purchases and redemptions were the greatest.

In the corn belt, the department notes, redemption of a A-E bonds was about 50 per cent greater in July and August, 1950, than during the corresponding months of 1949.

Bond sales to farmers in the corn belt between mid-July and September were estimated at about 48 per cent less than in 1949. Bond sales to farmers in the corn belt between mid-July and September were estimated at about 48 per cent less than in 1949.

In the great plains, redemptions increased 41 per cent and sales decreased 60 per cent between the corresponding months of 1949 and 1950.

The department says that during the first eight months of 1950, farmers bought nearly 23 per cent fewer series E bonds in the national average than during the same period of 1949. Redemptions were 12 per cent higher. Officials attribute the changes to the fact that farm income during those months of 1950 was less than a year earlier and farm expenditures for production equipment continued high.

Steel Industry
Operations Will Be Slightly Lower

NEW YORK, Dec. 27.—(INS)—The American Iron and Steel Institute said today that steel industry operations will taper off slightly this week as a result of the Christmas holiday.

The institute placed production in the current week at 100 1/10th per cent of ingot capacity, calculated to yield 1,930,600 tons of ingots and steel for castings. This is a decline of 7/10ths of a point from the 100 8/10th per cent operating rate of last week when 1,944,200 tons were turned out.

A month ago, the operating rate was 81 7/10th per cent with a yield of 1,575,800 tons, and a year ago, it was 93 1/10th per cent with a yield of 1,716,300 tons.

Question Man In New York Slaying Of Former Actress

NEW YORK, Dec. 27.—(INS)—New York City detectives today were to bring back from Utica, N. Y., a 41-year-old apple picker for questioning in the "lost holiday weekend slaying" of former Ziegfeld Follies actress Evelyn (Yvonne) Hughes, 50.

Yvonne, who had fallen from the dizzy heights of Broadway and Hollywood acclaim to anonymity, was found strangled with a man's handkerchief and gagged with her own scarf in a room at Hotel Ashland, on Fourth Avenue, Christmas night.

Birger Nordkrust, of Hamlin, Monroe County, western New York, was arrested in Utica nine hours later after phoning the hotel to ask: "What happened in the hotel last night?"

A policeman, stationed at the hotel switchboard, traced the call. Nordkrust had registered there on Christmas Eve, after being picked up by John McDonald, taxi driver and common-law husband of Yvonne for the last 14 years.

The McDonalds lived on the same floor where the body was found by Shirley Ruggles, a maid. The once-lovely Yvonne lay fully clad in the room strewn with beer cans.

At her career's height she had appeared in such Ziegfeld Follies hits as "Rio Rita" and went to Paris as a headliner when Ziegfeld put on a show at the Moulin Rouge there.

Gribble-Zeigler Speak To Lions

Members of the Lions Club took a trip through West Point Military Academy Tuesday at noon with the guides, Gene Gribble and Lou Zeigler.

The two young men are third year cadets at the Point and Tuesday were the speakers at the Lions Club luncheon in The Castle hotel. Both of them spoke upon their experiences in the military academy with particular reference to the Army football team of 1950.

"Our schedule was tougher than a lot of fans might have imagined," said Mr. Gribble. "We lost one to the Navy and if we have to lose a game we would sooner lose it to a service team." Both of them paid high tribute to Col. Earl Blaik, head coach of the Army team.

Both of them told of their class schedule, the day's routine at the Point and the thoroughness with which all cadets are trained.

Mr. Gribble is a defensive back on the Army team, while Mr. Zeigler is an offensive tackle. Both of them were stars upon the New Castle high school football team, graduating with the Class of 1948.

At the luncheon also was Robert Morgan, a cadet from California who is Mr. Gribble's room mate.

Holiday Programs Given At West Side

Preceding the closing of school for the holiday period, children of the West Side school took part in the Christmas program which was presented for the school and for the parents of the children.

The program which was under the direction of Miss Belle Kyle, teacher of dramatics, and Miss Margaretta Hess, music teacher, with Miss Sara Fields in charge of costumes, included speeches by first grade children; songs by a group of second grade children, a play by the third grade children, a baton drill by third and fourth grade girls and "The Nativity" by fourth, fifth and sixth grade children.

For "The Nativity" a vested choir of 62 voices under the direction of Miss Hess, sang Christmas carols, with soloists being Sally Hogue, Linda Johnston, Larry Schweikert, Jonathan Tucker and Wilbur Taylor. Readers were Ina Nelson and Rosalie Manos.

In the afternoon, a short period of carol singing directed by Miss Hess, was enjoyed by the school, which formed in groups around the Christmas tree, after which the youngsters returned to their home room where they received a treat from their home room teacher. The school was attractively decorated by Miss Kyle's art classes.

Five Cars Derailed Near Hamilton, Ohio

HAMILTON, O., Dec. 27.—(INS)—Five cars of a northbound Cincinnati-Chicago Pennsylvania passenger train were derailed today at Sommerville, 12 miles north of Hamilton.

No one was injured in the accident, which sent one car over an embankment into Seven-Mile creek. Two cars were laid over on their sides and two were "broadside" across the tracks.

One of the cars was a sleeper which had 80 passengers. Some of the passengers were shaken up or thrown from their beds, but others had to be awakened to be told of the accident. They were transferred to a Baltimore and Ohio railroad train.

Two trains were held up behind the wrecked train as workmen attempted to clear the tracks.

College Students Save Small Girl

WESTMONT, N. J., Dec. 27.—(INS)—Two college students home for Christmas vacations were acclaimed for their heroism today in braving the thin ice of Crystal lake to save a four-year-old Westmont girl who had fallen through the ice.

The child, Dorothy Jane Meister, was walking across the ice when it broke through under her weight. She was struggling by holding on to the edge of the rink of ice, but each time she seized it, her weight broke another section off, and her strength was waning as rescue came.

The students, Robert Dyer, 19, and Robert Muller, 19, both of Haddonfield, were driving past when they heard her cries. Muller dropped through the ice as he ran out to the child, but continued toward her through freezing water, shoulder deep. Dyer stretched bodily on the ice surface and slithered to the girl.

Police and a rescue squad truck arrived as they rescued the girl. Dyer is a freshman at Juniata college, and Muller is in his first year at the University of Maryland.

Around Hollywood

By JAMES PADGITT
(International News Service Staff Correspondent)

HOLLYWOOD, Dec. 27.—For about the first time in movie history a director was shooting around an indisposed animal star today.

The director is Arthur Lubin and the ailing thespian is Francis, the talking mule, who currently is starring in "Francis Goes To the Races" at Universal-International. The mule appeared on the set as per orders Saturday but he cast Lubin such a woe-begone look that the director immediately telephoned for the studio veterinarian to come on the run with his medicine bag. The doctor said that Francis was suffering from "just plain gout, like human beings get from too much high living, in Hollywood or any other place."

Ordered Home
The mule was ordered to stay away from the set for a few days, just as Shelley Winters, Claudette Colbert or Betty Grable are ordered to do when they come down with the sniffles.

Francis, it developed, has been eating oats and sugar lumps with wild abandon from morning until night. Studio visitors just will not obey the signs in the animal compound, "don't feed our four-footed actors."

Francis was given a mule-sized hypo and is now wearing ice packs around his feet until he overcomes the gout.

BUY STATUETTES

The cast and crew of "Deep Is the Well" chipped in to buy three handsome gold statuettes to present to Leo C. Popkin, Russell Crouse and Clarence Greene for their producer, writer and director chores on the melodrama.

The company got such a kick out of making the thriller that they all gifted the trio with the mementos. Stars in the film include Richard Rober, Barry Kelley, Henry Morgan, Tom Powers and newcomer Christine Larson.

SONG OF HIAWATHA

"The Song of Hiawatha" is being readied for spring screening at 20th Century-Fox and may come out the same time as Walt Disney's treatment of the Henry Wadsworth Longfellow classic. "Hiawatha" originally was planned for production at Monogram studios. Monogram president Steve Brody, however, startled everybody by declaring that "Hiawatha" appeared to be tinged with communism and that his studio would not handle it.

POLA NEGRI BACK

Pola Negri, the screen siren of yesteryear, has signed with a theater workshop group to instruct newcomers to the acting game in the femme fatale business. Dorothy Lamour hates to go home and face her two small sons these days. They want her to swing by her teeth from the trees or chandelier, just as she does as "the iron-jaw girl" in Cecil B. DeMille's circus picture, "Greatest Show On Earth."

Dams, Power Plants Barred To Public

WASHINGTON, Dec. 27.—The department of interior has issued an order barring the public from "those parts of the interiors of dams and power plants vulnerable to sabotage."

Officials said the order was a precautionary one. It applies to all federal projects producing electricity.

Will Still Be Riding 'Bicycle Built For Two'

HOLLYWOOD, Dec. 27.—(INS)—More than a half a century ago the James V. Blaneys starred in vaudeville with their act called "a bicycle built for two."

They later appeared with Al Jolson, W. C. Fields and many other stage luminaries.

Last Saturday Mrs. Emma Blaney, 69, filed suit for separate maintenance after a marriage of 53 years.

But today Mrs. Blaney notified her attorney, S. S. Hahn, that she and her 71-year-old husband will still be riding "a bicycle built for two."

"Monday was Christmas, you know," explained Mrs. Blaney and so we kissed and made up."

Use Sugar Basting When Roasting Beef

When you are basting roast beef, a tablespoonful of brown or white sugar added to the gravy improves the flavor and color. Salt should never be added to stews, soups and boiled meats until after they are cooked.

If put in at first it toughens the fiber of the meat and takes out the juices.

THIEF LOSES OUT

HOUSTON, Tex.—This thief went to a lot of trouble to satisfy an apparent sweet tooth. He pried open a window in a building housing a service station grease rack, crawled over the rack and pried open a window leading into the station. For all that work he got 50 cents worth of candy, $1 worth of gum and an oil can.

Move Furniture About To Save Rug Wear

Glass cups under furniture legs will help to prevent marks, but even the cups take their toll in time; and furniture marks in a rug usually become holes before the rest of the rug is worn out.

For real protection, change the position of your furniture—a few inches is enough—once a week; and turn the rug every couple of months—a quarter turn for a square rug; a half turn for a rectangular one.

Dumplings Add Zest To Irish Stew

To make dumplings for Irish stew sift together two cups sifted all-purpose flour, four teaspoons baking powder, and one teaspoon salt. Cut in one tablespoon shortening; add one cup milk, and stir quickly to make a soft dough.

Drop by small spoonfuls on top of boiling stew. Cover and cook 12 to 15 minutes. Serve at once with stew. This recipe yields enough dumplings for six portions.

Passengers Who Refuse To Move To Rear Of Bus

By MARGARET BREWER

(N. S. Staff Correspondent)
ATLANTA, Dec. 27.—(INS)—It's just another case of everybody wanting to get into the act.

So says an Emory university psychologist of people who refuse to move to the rear of crowded trolleys.

For years, transit company officials everywhere have tried to discover why commuters prefer to press themselves against the front door of a vehicle rather than sway individually in the middle.

Dr. H. W. Martin, clinical and abnormal psychologist, says it is because Americans want to be "up front" participating in everything "either verbally or otherwise."

He explained:

"Bold passengers are a kind of backseat driver. They like to help the driver by telling him how the traffic situation is on the other side of the mass of humanity that blocks him from the door.

"Timid commuters are 'back seat riders' who stand up front and suppress their desire to comment."

Dr. Martin said this probably stems from the old competitive spirit of American life.

"We don't like to be made to feel inadequate," he explained, "and being forced to the rear of a trolley by a driver or fellow passengers hurts our pride."

The Atlanta Transit company is conducting a "move-to-the-rear" campaign that might set an example for the rest of the nation. Commuters are being startled and amused by a car card that shows a dachshund "bus" telling her puppy passengers to "move to the rear, it's coming along too."

The oldest collection of tales in Italian was compiled in the thirteenth century. It is called "No-vellino."

Titans Ahead Until Final Three Seconds

Duquesne came from behind in the final three seconds of play to defeat the Westminster College Titans by a one point—53-52 margin at The Gardens in Pittsburgh last night.

Up to that point the Titans had fought an uphill battle with the Titans holding the lead throughout all but the final minute of the contest. A substitute guard, Steve Garay sank a running shot from 50 feet out to provide the victory margin.

King Misses Layup

With 20 seconds left to play and the Titans in possession of the ball out-of-bounds it looked like a Titan victory. But at that point the Titans threw up a tight man to man defense on the throw-in that finally gave them the break to win the contest. In the final 20 seconds five personal fouls were called on the Titans and each time Westminster elected to take the ball out-of-bounds.

On the sixth throw-in attempt Titan guard Pat King found himself under the basket for what looked like a sure lay-up shot. He shot, but missed and Duquesne took the rebound down the floor for the winning field goal.

Titans Lead At Half

Westminster jumped to a 2-0 lead in the first 40 seconds of the contest, steadily built up the margin and led 28-20 at the halfway point. Duquesne narrowed the margin to four points early in the second period, but the Titans pulled ahead again and led by 12 points with 10 minutes left in the contest.

The Titans began to move in the final five minutes of play and tied up the game at 49-49 with two minutes left. The Titans went ahead again by a one point margin 30 seconds later on a foul shot by King. With one minute to play the Titans took the lead for the first time in the contest as Carl Pacacha moved in for a layup shot that gave Duquesne a 51-50 lead. But the Titans came back 20 seconds later to go ahead 52-51 on a field goal by King. The Duke goal in the fading seconds decided the contest.

King High Scorer

Coach Washabaugh used his starting five in all but the final minute of play when Jerry Hyder came in to replace Don Meyers, who captained the Titan quintet for the contest. King was high scorer for Westminster with 17 points. Ed Halas contributed 14 points to the Titan score and John Abraham made nine points. High scorers for the Titans were Pacacha who made 18 points, and Hank Kuzma with 14 points.

Holovak To Coach At Boston College

BOSTON, Dec. 27.—(INS)—Boston College today was reported to have chosen Mike Holovak, former All-American and coach of the undefeated Eagles Freshman team for two years, to succeed Denny Myers as grid mentor.

Sports writer Bob Ajemian of the Boston Evening American wrote that Holovak was chosen a week ago by the Athletic Council and approved by the president of the college, Very Rev. William J. Kelleher, S.J.

Maglie And Jones Signed By Giants

NEW YORK, Dec. 27.—(INS)—The New York Giants had two star pitchers in the fold today for the 1951 season—Sal Maglie, the National League's top percentage hurler, and Sheldon Jones.

Maglie, who rejoined the Giants last season after jumping to the outlaw Mexican League, won 18 and lost four. He is understood to have signed for about $15,000—double his 1950 salary.

Jones won 13 and lost 16. Russell C. "Dutch" Kremer, the "toe" of the William and Mary football team, looks like a good bet for regular service at fullback on the 1951 Indian eleven.

HERE AND THERE IN SPORTS LAND

JAKE MINTZ, co-manager of Ezzard Charles, world's heavyweight champ, slays grammar but his assaults on English are for the purpose of attracting publicity, gobs of which he receives. However, Jake is not only a cutie in reaping reams of newspaper space, but is wise to the ways of fistic satellites, and hangers-on. Several evenings ago, Here and There heard Jake discuss Charles with Pie Traynor and Ken Hildebrand. He said it was the intention of him and Tom Tannas, who with Jake paves the pugilistic way for E.C., to make Charles a popular champion, and if opponents could be found, he would like the champ to fight once a month. He said he would introduce Charles wherever promoters beckon, stating that he wanted everybody to see his heavyweight. He implied he would take Ezzard into clubs where the promoters are having a hard time making ends meet, thus giving the promoter a chance to get on his feet, financially. There is no question that the small clubs are the backbone of the game. A club actually is a plant. In some cities a club, because of drawing capacity, can only pay a certain figure, but if a fighter, or fighters, refuse to fight for sums promoters can pay, the plants remain idle, and usually the clubs go out of business. From what Here and There understood from the discussion, Jake intends to string along with promoters whenever it is possible.

THIS CITY needs a sportsorium where all kinds of events, including professional sport affairs, can be staged. Since the destruction of The Arena, men who do not care for basketball, or the movies, have no place to while away an evening. . . . Chuck Andrews, home for the Christmas holidays, is doing fine at Macon-Randolph, and his brother, Bill, who will graduate at Iowa this year, is also doing good. He's taking Phy-Ed. . . . Jerry Crangi has a beautifully Christmas spirit decorated residence at 407 Glen-Moore boulevard. . . . Walter Dewberry, although not in the upper bracket of age, can recite New Castle lore like a pioneer. His daughter, Mildred, is an expert bowler. . . . Here and There has received word that his nephew, Jackie Fritz, with other Marines, fought their way out of a North Korean trap. However, he is hospitalized because of frozen feet. He is a son of Nate Fritz, Ashley, who was prominent four decades ago in anthracite coal region foot racing circles. . . . Master Sergeant Charlie Kennedy, city controller on leave, is due back to an Airborne division, at Fort Campbell, Ky., December 28. Phil Thomas, Adams street railroad, now at McConnellsville, O., for his health, is much improved. Mike Pecoulas is spending the Christmas holidays with Meadville relatives.

SUGAR RAY ROBINSON is making himself felt in Europe, judging from his string of knockouts of European fighters. . . . Elkins Brothers and Bob Satterfield will box 10 rounds January 19 at St. Nicholas club, New York City. Not so long ago Bob's manager boasted Bob could beat Ezzard Charles. Brothers won his last fight by a knockout in Madison Square Garden. The club is the scene of the fight in which a fighter recently lost his life. Incidentally, Brothers figured out what could have turned out to be a fatality here. During a fight with Al Micatrotte, Cleveland, who was a student at a Michigan college several years ago, Al was knocked down but he got up at a count of nine. A right punch to the head knocked Al down a second time and his head struck the padded floor and the fight was stopped immediately. He was conveyed to a hospital where he improved so well he left the hospital the next morning. There were three or more inches of padding on the Flaherty field ring floor. The law calls for one inch. Boxers like a thinly padded floor, claiming a floor heavily padded slows 'em down. However, it is much better for them to be a little slower on their feet, in view of the likelihood of being floored and their head bouncing against a hard floor.

Temperature Drops At New Orleans

NEW ORLEANS, Dec. 27.—(INS)—The biggest unpredictable element of a bowl game or any other football game—weather—cast some gloom today over Sugar Bowl training camps of the Oklahoma Sooners and Kentucky Wildcats.

Both teams flew into the deep-south yesterday afternoon and were greeted by warm weather.

But today the weather turned rainy and the temperature began to drop.

The bad break in the weather came when both coaches wanted dry sunshine badly.

Mohawks-Bisons Tangle Tonight

(By International News Service)

Buffalo Bisons bid to strengthen their lead in the eastern division of the American Hockey league tonight when they meet the Cincinnati Mohawks in the Ohio valley city.

The Bisons hold a three-point edge over the Hershey Bears and can widen the gap with a victory while the Bears are idle.

Cleveland hopes to overtake Springfield tonight, the only team in the league to hold an edge in victories over the Barons this season. The Clevelanders are banking on the torrid Wally Hergeheimer, who has tallied six goals in the last two games, to help even the count with the Indians at two games apiece.

The game, on Cleveland ice, is postponed from Sunday, Nov. 26, when the city was paralyzed by a heavy snow.

Pittsburgh travels to St. Louis in the other match scheduled for tonight.

Wampum Alumni Top High School, 70-65

Wampum high school alumni defeated the Wampum high school varsity Tuesday night 70-65 in the annual contest between the teams on the high school floor.

John McMillin was high point man for the evening with 22 points. Harold Marshall and Ray Jackson paced the winners in scoring with 17 and 16 points respectively.

Guy Bennett played a very good floor game for the alumni, who won the game at the foul line. The varsity cagers got only four opportunities at free throws and were successful only once.

Glassers Polish Off Hurricane As Locals Drop Second Straight

The polished Ford City Glassers turned back New Castle last night 49-34, and continued to add wins and lustre to their undefeated streak and reputation.

Confidence oozed from the home town forces even when appears nine to four in the first period. The defensive minded Glassers played possession-type ball, shot no longs, and thwarted New Castle completely in the second and fourth quarters.

Ritchey clicked on a pair of fouls and the Forders had the lead. Latsko and McKay hit on a field goal and a foul, and after Ritchey tied the game, Boak and McKay scored twice from the field and the Canes stepped out in front seven-three.

Close Gap

Coach Rupert applied more pressure toward the end of the period and the Glassers closed the gap, but trailed 10-9. Ritchey contributed six of the nine Ford City points.

The well-knit Armstrong county team, paced by Zelek and Schreengost, slowed New Castle to a drag in the second stanza and continued strong to forge ahead when Stivason caged two field goals consecutively.

The Ford City zone, built around 6-ft. 4-in. Zelek and 6-ft. 3-in. Schreengost, blocked off all forcing shots and limited the Canes to two field goals and a foul in the second period. The half time score showed Ford City ahead 22-14.

A switch from zone to man-to-man for Ford City in the third quarter was experimental, and the Canes had their biggest scoring period. However, a precision-drilled Glasser team continued to set the pace and style of the game as Minarcin came into his own for six of the stanza's points. Milanovich men dropped 11 points behind when Schreengost scored on two fouls.

Reserves Play

Coach Rupert sent his reserves into action in the final two minutes and Milanovich followed suit. Coach Milanovich maintains that the host team is the best he has seen this year, which is borne out by their unbeaten streak of eight.

New Castle has now been dropped twice, both by section 1 teams.

The Canes hit on eight of 16 fouls. Ford City on 15 of 23.

New Castle travels to South Union Friday night in their final pre-league game. Cane JayVees won over Ford City, 39-29.

Bowl Game Gridders Look Ahead To Monday Tussles

By JOHN BARRINGTON
(I. N. S. Sports Writer)

From Florida to California, the order of the day was "work, work, work" today as tight-lipped football coaches drilled their behemoths in preparation for New Year's Day bowl games.

Gloomy Andy Gustafson of Miami, whose Hurricanes play Clemson in the Orange Bowl, struck the keynote when he moaned after yesterday's first post-Christmas practice:

"They looked worse than at any time since they started practice for this game."

Gustafson Warns

Gustafson indicated what his gridders can expect the next few days when he warned them they will "have to run themselves into shape or be in for a long afternoon" against Clemson.

The Tigers were scheduled to arrive in Miami today to begin their final preparations for the only bowl which has two undefeated participants. Each has been beaten once.

Meanwhile, Lynn Waldorf of California—whose Golden Bears seek to break a four-year domination by the Big Ten in the Rose Bowl—said:

"We're not tearful, nor are we cheerful. We're just sawing wood."

Good News

The Bears' opponent, Michigan, received good news in the announcement that injured Leo Koski, Dick McWilliams and Roger Zatkoff all will be ready for the Pasadena classic.

Kentucky set up its training base at Baton Rouge, La., and banned spectators from practice sessions. Oklahoma, burdened by the longest winning streak in the nation—31 games, made Biloxi, Miss., its headquarters.

The Sooners trained at Biloxi last year and walloped Louisiana State, 35 to 0, in the Sugar Bowl. At Dallas, Gen. Bob Neyland's Tennessee squad flew in last night and planned a heavy scrimmage today to overcome the effects of a five-day Christmas layoff. The Vols were not pleased by a cold wind and freezing temperatures.

The University of Texas Longhorns, Cotton Bowl adversaries of the Vols, are doing their practicing at home in Austin. They won't arrive at Dallas until Friday.

W & L Saddened

Down in Jacksonville, Fla., the hopes of Washington and Lee's Southern Conference champions received a mighty blow as they readied themselves to meet unbeaten Wyoming in the 'Gator Bowl.

Fullback Walt Michaels, the Generals' top offensive threat, underwent an emergency appendectomy.

Butter Price May Be Increased Soon

PITTSBURGH, Dec. 27.—(INS)—A three-cents-per-pound increase in the price of butter probably will occur within several days in the Pittsburgh district.

Price of wholesale butter were boosted two to three cents yesterday and the increase undoubtedly will be passed on to the consumers.

A spokesman for one district grocery chain, however, said his company will attempt to hold the line at 73-cents-per-pound on 93-score butter and 72-cents-per-pound on 90-score butter.

Butter Price May Be Increased Soon

PITTSBURGH, Dec. 27.—(INS)—A three-cents-per-pound increase in the price of butter probably will occur within several days in the Pittsburgh district.

Price of wholesale butter were boosted two to three cents yesterday and the increase undoubtedly will be passed on to the consumers.

A spokesman for one district grocery chain, however, said his company will attempt to hold the line at 73-cents-per-pound on 93-score butter and 72-cents-per-pound on 90-score butter.

Cause Of Blast And Fire Not Known

FIRE CHIEF HERMAN STEINBRINK stated today that he had not yet formed an opinion as to what caused the explosion and fire which destroyed the building on South Mill street occupied by the Bordonaro and Canfora Wholesale Fruit Company.

The fire chief said that the walls of the structure would be knocked down.

Your New Social Security

By MYRON MILBOUER

(Manager of the New Castle Social Security Office)

Earlier articles of this series have described most of the kinds of employment which will be covered by social security for the first time in January. These include self employment (except for farm operators and members of certain named professions), regularly employed farm workers, regularly employed household workers, employees of nonprofit organizations under certain conditions, employees of the State and local governments who are not under a retirement plan by means of voluntary agreements between the States and the Federal Security Administrator, etc.

There are a few other categories of coverage added by the Social Security Amendments of 1950. Although the number of employees involved is smaller than in the other groups, this coverage will help to round out social security protection for American workers.

Permanent Federal employees are covered by their own retirement system; however, at all times the Federal Government has a considerable number of temporary employees who are not members of the retirement system. Beginning in January most temporary Federal employees will contribute to social security and receive credit toward the protection of old-age and survivors insurance. They will discontinue social security contributions if they receive permanent Federal appointments covered by the Government retiring system.

American citizens who work for American employers outside the United States will also be covered beginning next January. Service on American vessels has been covered since 1940, but service on or in connection with American aircraft will also be covered hereafter.

The term "United States" as used in the Social Security Act, is redefined to include the Virgin Islands, and Puerto Rico. It is anticipated that some four hundred thousand individuals in the Virgin Islands and Puerto Rico may be covered by social security.

Under the new law, full-time life insurance salesmen, full-time traveling or city salesmen, agent and commission drivers engaged in laundry or dry-cleaning services, or in the distribution of food or beverage products and homeworkers may be covered as "employees" if they perform services under specified conditions.

Miscellaneous services, like certain commercial fishing activities, family employment, work by student nurses and interns, etc., are still excluded from coverage under the new law. So is service performed by a student employee of a school, college, or university if the student is enrolled and regularly attending classes in the school.

Tomorrow we will summarize the important changes in social security which have been discussed in the preceding articles.

Predicts Attack On U.S. From Siberia

LOS ANGELES, Dec. 27.—(INS)

—A former air force intelligence officer in China and Alaska who forecast the North Korean offensive a year before it happened, predicted today that Russia will attack the United States with planes and parachute troops from Siberian bases.

He is Capt. Edgar C. Bundy, now in the air force reserve. Bundy said the Russians are diverting attention by moves in western Europe and Korea while preparing to descend on Alaska, Canada and the Pacific coast.

A transcript of Bundy's testimony before the senate appropriations committee on June 23, 1949, shows he stated:

"Southern Korea will be invaded by the people's army of northern Korea, which has been trained and equipped by the Soviet."

Bundy asserted today: "The Russians are planning one-way no return missions against the United States, particularly in the industrial areas of the Pacific coast."

Bundy was chief of research and analysis for the Alaska air command's intelligence section.
